

HYPOCRISY

(SEED)

Once I thought I had a friend on the long road.
One of those you believe you know.
But now I find that ugly fake,
drawn with lies, drawn with lies upon your face.

Can't stand this hypocrisy,
don't wanna be another fucking liar like you.
If you don't like me stay away from me,
don't need your stupid false grin around.

Now you needn't pretend that you care about me.
I see the judge behind the veil so clear.
The one who sets who's to deserve to be saved or to be burnt inside your head

Can't stand this hypocrisy,
don't wanna be another fucking liar like you.
If you don't like me stay away from me,
don't need your stupid false grin around.

Just can't bear that contempt that sticks out behind your false friendliness.
When the day is over do you really want me to remember you like this?

